

SPECIAL SESSION CALL PUT UP TO TOWN'S MEETINGS

Delay of Governor in Acting Upon Request of the State Officers Leads to Appeal to People

WANTS TO KNOW ROAD SENTIMENT

Governor McGovern Asks for Expression of Opinion from Town Meetings

FIVE QUESTIONS ARE SUBMITTED

Wants to Find Out Country Attitude Upon the Highway Appropriations

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—The delay of Governor McGovern in the calling of a special session of the legislature petitioned by four state officers led to the mailing of a letter under the signature of Attorney General Walter C. Owen to every town clerk in the state last night asking them to submit the question of a special session to the town meetings on April 7. The letter is accompanied by a petition reciting the reasons for the immediate calling of a special session and asks the town meetings to adopt the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the petition to the governor for the calling of a special session of the legislature to reduce appropriations and thereby reduce the tax levy is hereby endorsed and approved, and that we urge prompt action as proposed in such petition."

Today the executive office decided to mail a letter to the town clerks submitting the question of highway tax: the proposition of continuing the budget system, and the plan for a proposed constitutional amendment affecting the veto power of the government on appropriation matters to the town meetings at the same time.

Refers to Special Session

The letter points out that a special session of the legislature to deal with the problem of appropriations, especially those relating to buildings and to highways, is being considered by the chief executive. As to the first, the governor points out that by refusing to sanction any building that was not absolutely necessary by June 30 he will have saved approximately $550,000. He has effected this saving with the co-operation of the boards concerned, as follows: Through the University of Wisconsin, $200,000; through the board of normal schools, $175,000.

The five questions submitted, briefly summarized are: Is a cut in highway appropriation favored, and if so, how much? Should the amounts due the several towns, if uncalculated for, be reserved for at least three years instead of being distributed in other towns and counties as at present? Should the provision through which individuals, by subscribing certain amounts can force local appropriations, be repealed?

The last two questions deal with the advisability of a constitutional amendment permitting executive veto of separate items in appropriation bills, and the wisdom of a legislative rule, in the event a special session is called, requiring every appropriation to be submitted in a separate bill.

Governor's Letter

The complete letter of the governor, which is being mailed to the town clerks today, is as follows:

"My Dear Sir: I have under consideration the calling of a special session of the legislature to cut down some of the appropriations made at the regular session. Chief among these appropriations are those for better roads. As the subject of highway improvement will come before the voters of your town at the annual meeting next Tuesday I take the liberty of addressing them through you. Will you, therefore, read this letter to them and inform me what replies, if any, they have to make to the questions I wish to submit to them?"

"Before stating these questions permit me to say that I have always thought the appropriations of the last legislature were unnecessarily large. At the time they were made I said so in a special message to the legislature. I should have vetoed many of the items had I the power to do so without at the same time defeating other necessary appropriations and general legislation included in the same bills."

Says He Has Retrenched

"To avoid, as far as possible, the evil results reasonably to be expected to flow from these excessive grants of public money, ever since the legislature adjourned I have pursued a policy of retrenchment by advising the heads of the several state departments, institutions and boards to cut down the cost of administration, and wherever I found it necessary to do so I have declined to approve the expenditure of public money that did not seem to me to be unavoidable. In this way the ex-

VETERANS HONOR COL. WOODWARD

Wisconsin Commandery of Loyal Legion Adopts a Memorial to Late La Crosse Citizen

WAS IDOL OF THE REGIMENT

State and Nation Has Lost One of Best and Most Patriotic Citizens Says Memorial

"No soldier of his regiment made a better record as a brave man and in the performance of every duty assigned to him. He was a general favorite. His own company idolized him, as did the whole regiment when it came to know him as its adjutant."

The foregoing paragraph is an excerpt from a memorial to the late Colonel Gilbert Motier Woodward of La Crosse, adopted last night at a meeting of the Wisconsin commandery of the Loyal Legion in Milwaukee. Mr. Woodward was one of the oldest members of the Loyal Legion. The memorial concludes: "In his death the Commandery has lost a most creditable member, and the State and Nation one of its best and most patriotic citizens."

The memorial is signed by Lieut. Col. J. A. Watrous, Lieut. Amos P. Foster and Brig. Gen. F. C. Winkler.

Text Of Memorial

The full text of the memorial follows:

"This distinguished companion of the Wisconsin Commandery died at La Crosse on Friday, March 13th, after a long and serious illness. He was a native of Washington, District of Columbia, born December 25, 1835. He learned the printer's trade and followed that calling in Baltimore and other portions of Maryland and also for several years in Washington, coming to La Crosse in 1860 where he completed his law studies and was admitted to the bar at a term of Court held at Black River Falls early in 1861. Soon after he had entered upon the practice of his profession President Lincoln's first call for troops was made. He at once enlisted and became a member of Company B, Second Wisconsin Infantry. He was made first sergeant and was so proficient that he was accepted, throughout the brigade in which he served, as a model for nearly all of the newly appointed orderly sergeants in the four regiments. At the battles of Gainesville and Second Bull Run Companion Woodward so distinguished himself as a fighting soldier and a handler of men that he was commissioned second lieutenant a few days afterwards, a position he held until the following October when he was commissioned first lieutenant and adjutant of his regiment, that being the position he held at the termination of his three years of service, when he returned to La Crosse and took up the practice of his profession. He participated in the battles of First Bull Run, Rappahannock Station, Gainesville, Second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Pittsburgh Crossing, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Mine Run, and all of the battles under Gen. Grant from the 5th of May 1864, up to June of the same year, including the two days battle in the Wilderness, Laurel Hill, the battles about Spotsylvania, North Anna, Salem Church and Cold Harbor."

Idol of Regiment

"No soldier of his regiment made a better record as a brave man and in the performance of every duty assigned to him. He was a general favorite. His own company idolized him, as did the whole regiment when it came to know him as its adjutant. At the battle of Gettysburg he served on the staff of the brigade commander and was severely wounded, but not until after he had added new laurels to those already won and high praise from his brigade and division commander."

"He afterwards, for a time, served on the staff of General James Wadsworth, commander of the division."

"Every officer and every soldier who knew Gilbert M. Woodward respected him and many of them loved him as a brother. He was in no sense picturesque. He was a solid, substantial man, both in uniform and in civil life, and was without a flaw."

"He was a charter member of the first Grand Army post, that of Wilson Colwell, organized in La Crosse, and its first commander. He became a member of this commandery twenty years ago. Though he seldom attended in consequence of living so far from Milwaukee and also in the later years because of enfeebled health, he was deeply interested in the order and much attached to the companions."

Political Career

"In civil life our companion had large experience. For a number of years after the war he was one of the brightest and most influential editorial writers on La Crosse papers, and he pursued outside of his law practice and for the love he had for the work. He served La Crosse as city attorney and mayor and was county attorney and was at

KEELER RETAINS W. F. WOLFE TO DEFEND BIG SUIT

Will Make No Statement Concerning $50,000 Libel Suit Filed by Morse

THE DOPE IS UPSET IN ELECTIONS

Insurgents Win in Administration Districts and Vice Versa, Say Reports

HOLD RUMP CONVENTION HERE

Insurgents After Bolting Meet and Elect a Rival Delegation to State Meet

B. F. Keeler, state deputy of the Woodmen, today employed Attorney William F. Wolfe as counsel in the $50,000 libel suit preferred against him by Robert Morse, Anoka, Minn., for defamation of character. Morse, an insurgent leader, charges Keeler with the distribution through the mail of circulars which he declares accuse him of wife abandonment and perjury. The purpose of the circulars it is claimed was to stamp Morse as a man without standing, and to discredit him with the insurgents."

Mr. Keeler, other than announcing that he had retained Attorney Wolfe to defend him, refused to commit himself on any phase of the case.

Administration Leads

Reports received from Woodmen county conventions representing 61 of the 121 delegate seats in the state convention, give the administration 33 delegates, the insurgents 16 delegates, and three doubtful. Reports from all parts of the state have been flowing into the offices of State Deputy B. F. Keeler today.

Mr. Keeler today declared that the convention delegates are coming as an entire surprise to him, declaring that counties looked upon as insurgent have gone to the administration. The loss of Milwaukee county with its eight delegates came as the biggest surprise of the day to the administration faction, he declared.

Insurgent Delegates

Three insurgent delegates were elected to the state Woodman convention by the insurgent faction following their bolt from the county Woodmen at Linker hall yesterday afternoon.

The delegates elected were: V. S. Keppel, Holmen; H. Darling, Bangor, and Robert Paisley, Mindoro. The insurgent delegation will attend the state convention and make a fight to have their credentials recognized instead of the credentials of the three delegates elected by the administration.

The three administration delegates are: William F. Wolfe, Rev. T. S. Oadams and B. F. Keeler. Resolutions condemning the high salaries of deputies and officers, demanding the repeal of the Chicago rates and pledging the delegates to support the insurgent slate, were adopted at the rump convention yesterday.

Insurgents Strong

Meagre reports received from other states today are favorable to the insurgent cause.

At Rock Island, the county convention grew so warm the police were called in to keep order and the administration delegates finally bolted the convention and held a rump convention.

La Crosse insurgents today declare that fully 1,000 of the 1,400 Woodmen in La Crosse county are insurgents and attribute the victory of the administration in gaining control of the county convention to better politics on the part of State Deputy Keeler and lack of united work on the part of the insurgents."

SITE TITLE NOT CLEAR

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—A break in the chain of title of the Crane site, Union Grove, selected by the state board of public affairs for the new Home for the Feeble-minded has caused a request for an opinion to be sent to Attorney General Owen. The attorney general suggests that a payment may be made on the site, with a possible bond given to the state until the title is cleared.

OLDEST CITY OF U. S. THREATENED

Famous Summer Resort City of St. Augustine, Florida, in Danger of Flames

WINTER TOURISTS BURNED OUT

Hotels of Semi-Tropical Town Go Up in Smoke and Northern Guests Flee

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 2.—Five hotels and a score of other structures contained in two city blocks were destroyed today in a fire that threatened the entire city, but was finally controlled by firemen and apparatus from half a dozen nearby towns. The loss will total $1,000,000. No lives were lost, so far as has been ascertained, but at least two persons were seriously injured.

Many Buildings Destroyed

The buildings destroyed include the Munson, Florida, Central, Atlantic and Clairmont hotels; Geneva theater; Lynn building; Joseph apartments; and the Sanchez and Salazar company's plant. The Magnolia house was afire several times but was saved with only slight damage. The court house was seriously damaged.

The powerboat house on the waterfront was totally destroyed with a loss of $60,000. Carl Hartman, manager of the boathouse, turned loose all the valuable racing craft, saving them from destruction, but not all have yet been picked up on the water. The local board of trade established relief quarters in the old slave market.

The local militia companies were called out to prevent looting. Starting before dawn, in the kitchen of the Florida house, the fire had at first created a panic of fear among those residing in the neighborhood. The wildest rumors were afloat throughout the city.

Escape in Night Attire

Very few of those in the hotels or residing in the frame cottages destroyed by conflagration saved anything. Hotel guests nearly all escaped in their night clothing. The frame buildings burned like tinder.

St. Augustine boasts that it is the oldest city in America, having been settled by the Spaniards in 1565. It is built on a plain only a few feet higher than the sea level. Despite the erection of palatial hotels, the city retains many of its quaint features in narrow streets, shell buildings and overhanging balconies and gardens and sub-tropical plants.

Among ancient ruins at St. Augustine are the city gate, Fort San Marco and a house built by Huguenots in 1564, said to be the oldest in the United States.

$10,000 LOOT OF POKER DEN RAID

Quintet of Masked Robbers Stick Up Gambling Room in New York

ARE SAFE FROM POLICE ACTION

Victims Dare Not Complain Without Revealing Nature of the Place

NEW YORK, April 2.—Five masked robbers raided the "Merchants' Club," a private poker place in W. Seventeenth street, here last night and are credited with having made the biggest haul of any stick up party in New York in many years. Five men were playing in "Beans" Rosenfeld's place. The five men entered quietly, tied and gagged the doortender, stood up the gamblers along the wall and then, all with guns prominently displayed, robbed the keeper of the "bank roll" of $700 and a $500 diamond ring.

Every player was searched and loot estimated at over $10,000 was secured. Still menacing the frightened players, the holdup men backed into the hall of the place and vanished.

No report of the robbery was made to the place, but today Rosenfeld, it is said, is scouring the underworld in an attempt to get back his patrons' jewelry at least. It is not believed there will be police action as no complaint can be made without revealing the character of the poker club.

CAN CUT BIG MELON

NEW YORK, April 2.—The equitable Life society lost today in Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum's court, when that jurist denied its application for an injunction to prevent the Union Pacific railroad cutting an $80,000,000 melon by making an extra disbursement to holders of its common stock. An appeal probably will be taken to the court of appeals. In his decision Justice Greenbaum said: "Preferred stockholders are clearly entitled to a four per cent dividend and no other distribution of profits thereafter."

REGISTERED MAN CAN VOTE

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—In an opinion to District Attorney Alex Wiley, Chippewa Falls, Attorney General Owen this morning ruled that only a man who is registered can vote if he moves from one precinct to another within ten days before an election. If he is registered in the precinct from which he moved he may vote in the precinct to which he moves.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—John Lind, President Wilson's special representative to Mexico, will return to the United States at once. He will sail tomorrow from Vera Cruz to Galveston on the hospital ship Solace. President Wilson, in making this announcement this afternoon insisted in emphatic terms that Lind had not been recalled. He said that the special envoy was returning to the United States in order to recover his health, which has become impaired by his long stay in Mexico.

The president said that Lind will return to Mexico should his presence there still be necessary after his health be fully restored. He is to go to French Lick Springs for an indefinite period, but whether he will come to Washington to consult the president before going there is not yet known.

BULL MOOSERS SQUABBLE

LANSING, Mich., April 2.—A resolution requesting New York state progressives to nominate Col. Theodore Roosevelt for governor next fall for a time threatened to disrupt a state-wide conference of the Michigan bull moosers here today. The resolution was fathered by Attorney James Pound of Detroit, who represented the former president in his famous libel suit at Lansing last year. Pound's resolution struck a snag when a faction objected that the colonel should be kept free of the New York governorship, so he would be available as a presidential candidate in 1916. After an hour of heated wrangling the resolution was withdrawn.

OPERATORS WON'T GIVE IN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 2.—Nearly 45,000 Ohio miners settled down to indefinite idleness in deadly earnest today. But six of the state's six hundred mines were operating as a result of the lockout following the wage scale disagreement between the operators and miners' representatives. According to the operators not a wheel will turn until the miners' officials agree to negotiate for a wage agreement apart from consideration of the Ohio mine screen law. This law is effective soon to pay miners for all coal mined in lieu of the screen product as in the past.

SENTENCED SLAYER ESCAPES

CAIRO, Ill., April 2.—William Wilson and five other prisoners saved their way out of the steel cage, broke out a section of the brick wall and escaped from Alexander county jail at Cairo early today while the guards were at lunch at a nearby restaurant.

Wilson murdered Special Officer Thomas C. Logan. He had been sentenced to be hanged Friday, April 24. As soon as the escape was discovered the sheriff called out his full force of deputies and scoured the surrounding country. Dogs were also used.

A Score of Vessels in the Seal Fleet Which Was Caught Off Cape Race

CURLING, N. F., April 2.—A wireless message received here this afternoon from the Red Cross liner Florizel declares that upwards of 200 men, members of the crew of the sealing ship Newfoundland perished on an ice flow off Cape Race during a terrific blizzard which raged during Tuesday and Wednesday.

Whether the Newfoundland went down or the men were unable to return to the boat after a sealing expedition on the floes is not yet known. Reports are conflicting but the Florizel wireless here that she had fifty bodies on board. The steamer Bellevue aided in picking up bodies, the Florizel declared.

The Florizel reported her position as off the straits of Beil Isle. A conflict in names in the transmission of wireless messages is believed to have resulted in earlier reports that the sealer Southern Cross had gone down with her crew of 174 men.

The Southern Cross is three days overdue and the gravest fears are felt for her safety, but no direct word of the vessel has been received here.

About 20 vessels were in the sealing fleet which left St. Johns March 13. A majority of them were staunch craft and were believed capable of successfully combating ice packs that might be encountered. In all nearly 4,000 men are out on the sealing grounds swept by the terrific storm.

The Robins Agreed It Was a Good Scheme.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Robins
Open a
Spring Show

THE robins, having left their warm winter home, had settled near a great, big, lovely park," said daddy. "Now, one of the robins happened to be a very practical old bird. He suggested that the shouldn't spend all their time singing, especially now, before the summer came. Then he thought it was all right to play and sing all day. But it would be nice now, he thought, to do a little work.

"The old robin's idea was that certain robins every morning should start out and dig up worms, for then they could get more than they wanted and could help supply the flocks and flocks of newcomers. Then other robins could go into the woods and get the new little berries that had just come up and the rest of the robins would keep a shop in the biggest tree of the park. All the birds would do their shopping there in the most central place.

"All the robins agreed that it would be an excellent scheme and so much better than idling away all their time.

"As soon as a new flock of birds would come to the park the other birds would tell them about the shop of the robins, and off they would fly to it. And such good things as the robins all had in their shop! It kept them pretty busy hurrying around to get enough provisions to last for all of their customers as well as themselves. But they thoroughly enjoyed being so busy, and decided that there was nothing in the world like work. At night they would feel so much better than if they'd been idle all day, and then they felt as if they had really been doing some good, for it was a great, great help to all of the other birds. You can imagine how they wouldn't be able to find things so quickly and they wouldn't know right away where the softest earth was so as to dig for the worms.

"Of course some of the early bird families did arrive as early as the robins, but the robins were the thoughtful and selfless ones who thought of the other birds.

"Did they charge anything for the things they sold?" asked Jack.

"No," said daddy; "the old robin said that he should never charge for anything, and, besides, they really felt that the work was doing them good and that then they'd enjoy the summer all the more.

"And the other birds certainly did appreciate what the robins were doing for them.

"The shop of the robins grew to be just like a daily party, for all the birds would fly there every day just about the same time, and after they had picked out the berries and the worms that struck their fancies they'd sit around and chirp and chat with the robins and each other."

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

TWO IN SOCIETY

BY MOLLY McMASTER

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

When Billy Dean first saw her and heard her sing at the Beverly's dinner dance, he thought he had never seen so altogether beautiful a woman. And her voice? It had penetrated to the very depths of Billy's being. He sighed. Women, such as Clair Raymer, were not for him.

Billy hoped to be presented to her, yet he feared the result. Instinctively, he felt that to meet the beautiful, exquisitely gowned girl was to love her.

There were only a few within the inner circle who knew that Billy Dean was invited to society dinners, etc., that his wit might live the party. He called himself a vagabond entertainer, and the checks he earned displaying his talent were both large and acceptable. Those not within that inner circle considered Billy Dean to be one of them—a man of social standing.

Thus, he looked upon Clair Raymer with eyes that gazed scarcely to feast themselves upon so forbidden a piece of luxury as feminine loveliness.

"If she were only a beggar maid," sighed Billy, "how happily I could love her."

A few moments later he was introduced to Miss Raymer. The warm touch of her hand augmented the already rapid movement of Billy's blood.

Her eyes were velvety and looked softly into his own.

"I enjoyed your stories immensely, Mr. Dean," she complimented him in that rich voice of hers.

"My buffoonery! It is a sacrifice to mention my efforts when this room is even now pulsating with the beauty of your tones. My very soul wept when you sang." Billy smiled upon Clair Raymer in his half serious, half bantering manner.

"And your words produced laughter in my soul," she returned quickly. Billy watched a wistful, fugitive smile play in her eyes. "We must have both laughter and tears in our souls if we would be completely happy," she added.

After a moment of more or less serious discussion, in which Clair knew that she had found one whom she liked, Billy extended his hand.

"We must also have meetings and partings—and I am in a most dreadful hurry." His voice laughed while his eyes remained wistful.

Their hands met in mutual pressure and Billy went swiftly away. He was wise enough to realize that to flee from temptation was the safest way to save further damage being done his heart. Temptation in this case would not pursue him.

Billy would have opened wide his arms to love had he been other than a vagabond at heart, but he lived with only one object in mind and that was his caravan. He worked during the winter months, but when spring breathed her fragrance over the hillside and through the valley Billy slipped off in his small caravan, nor was he heard from until the cold drove him back to his "buffoonery," as he himself called his talent for amusing society.

"What would I do with a jewel—a luxury loving, adorable woman such as Clair Raymer?" he questioned himself ironically. "All I could give her would be love and three meals a day cooked on a camp fire and reeking of smoke."

Try as he might to avoid meeting the girl he failed dismally. Tango teas, dinner dances, debutante receptions all combined to frustrate Billy's desire to keep out of harm's way.

He and Clair were flung into the same assemblages day after day and week after week. The intangible sense of attraction made them gravitate toward one another. If at times Billy noticed a peculiar wistfulness in Clair's eyes it did not occur to him that it was occasioned by his indifference to her.

The night upon which he had watched her drive away from the De Cortabers' mansion in a great, luxurious limousine all hope had been stifled in his breast.

"Her grey uniformed chauffeur probably has more money in the bank than I will ever have," he sighed, as she stepped into the perfectly appointed car of the De Cortabers.

It was toward the end of the season that Billy met Clair on the street. Never before had he seen her in other than wonderful toilets. Now her suit was simple, and even to Billy's masculine eyes it seemed well worn. Billy's heart rejoiced. For once before leaving for his vagabond summer he was to have Clair alone beside him.

A heavy, persistent snow had fallen and those who toiled through the elidown of snow that covered the city streets became weary of the effort.

Clair had become weary and was stepping up for a cup of tea when Billy saw her. The stairs leading to the Chimney Corner were slippery and Billy put his arm very quickly and firmly within Clair's.

"Oh! It's you!" she gasped, and even the obtuse Billy recognized the gladness in her voice. "How delightful!"

"That's what I say!" laughed Billy. He piloted her safely up and to a seat beside the great fireplace with its shining brasses.

There was a rich color mantling Clair's cheeks and her eyes were glowing.

"Have you tasted the home-made cake here?" asked Billy. "Yes—then, of course, you want some." He smiled at her and ordered Ceylon tea and cake from the neat little maid.

For a second he sat looking at Clair, marveling that he, vagabond entertainer, was sitting at a little table alone with her. Never before had a tea room on East Thirty-third street reflected so great a joy.

"The jewel has wandered from its setting," he said finally.

"I am no more a jewel than are you," she told him frankly. Her eyes made no attempt to conceal the happiness she felt.

"Are you trying to make my soul laugh?" he inquired quizzically. "Because if you are it will be difficult today."

"Why today—in particular?" Her eyes, softly luminous, rested contentedly on Billy's face.

"This is the first time I have had you away from your million-dollar setting. The change is so wonderful that it makes me sad to think that if it were not for your real setting I could tell you how glorious life could be if you were a beggar maid and I a vagabond poet."

Clair laughed softly. "But I am a beggar maid," she said and laughed the more at the astonishment in Billy's eyes. "My home is a hall room, for which my landlady extracts eight hard-earned dollars from me every week. I am in society merely because my voice charms bored guests and I am paid for every note I sing."

The incredulity in Billy's eyes brought a ripple of laughter from Clair's lips. "My limousines, my gowns, etc., are all borrowed plumes, and I am in reality a beggar maid, with no desire save to wear gypsy costumes and caravan through wooden dells and sweet smelling lanes. There, Vagabond, Poet, my secret is out!"

"Mine soon will be!" cried Billy, still a trifle unbelieving. A deep, expectant love was glowing in his eyes. He laughed so joyously that the little maids in the Chimney Corner exchanged glances. "And I pictured you breakfasting on canary's eyeballs and having a French maid for your poodle dog."

"You thought me so foolish—then?" queried Clair with eyes that were velvety and looked straight into Billy's own.

"There is only one thing I hope you are foolish about, and that is in loving me, Clair," he said swiftly. "I could not live without you now that I know the real you. My caravan is waiting and the spring is near—you will come—dear?"

"I am bound to go wherever the vagabond king wills," she said; "he makes my soul happy."

STANDS OFF POSSE

JOLIET, Ill., April 1.—After successfully standing off a sheriff's posse for several hours, John Klein, overseer on the stock farm of Dr. James Whitney Hall, was lodged in the county jail here early today on a warrant charging him with threatening to kill Thomas Stevenson, son of the Willis county sheriff, came up in the rear and overpowered Klein while the overseer was preparing to fire a fresh volley from his shotgun. The warrant was sworn out on complaint of Dr. Hall, who alleges Klein refused to leave the farm and threatened his life after he discharged him.

SPARTA HIGH WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Both Teams Win from Antigo in Debate on Minimum Wage Question Last Night

VERDICT NEARLY UNANIMOUS

Sparta Team Given Five Out of Six of Decisions

Made by the Judges

SPARTA, Wis., April 2. — The Sparta high school won another state championship, this time in debating, when both the affirmative and negative debating teams on the question of the minimum wage, defeated opposing teams from Antigo by winning five out of the six decisions rendered. These debates were held last evening, one in Antigo, the other in Sparta. Antigo came to Sparta to uphold the negative; its debaters were Maitland Williams, Frank vDorak and Rusk Potter. Opposing them were John Heitman, Fred E. Steele and John Doyle, Sparta's affirmative.

The debate began at half past eight, after a few explanatory remarks by Chairman Ben Sias, and was close all the way through, as was shown by the anxiety preceding the announcement of the verdict. The speeches and rebuttals were finished at about ten o'clock and the sealed ballots of the judges of the debate, President F. A. Cotton of the La Crosse Normal; President G. E. Maxwell of the Winona Normal, and State Grade School Inspector Walter Hunt of Madison, were delivered to the chairman.

A phone message from the negative team, Robert Smith, Arthur Douglas, and Bruce McCoy, at Antigo, announced their two to one victory over Antigo's affirmative. The decision of the judges of the Sparta debate was unanimous in favor of the affirmative, so Chairman Sias was able to announce to the audience that Sparta was state champion in debating, having won five out of six decisions cast in the final contest between the champions of northern and southern Wisconsin.

A few individuals were put on the "water wagon" for a year. Petitions were received from several posted men or wives of posted men to have their names removed from the posted list, but these petitions were all denied by the council. Much of the business that would have come up at the next regular meeting was disposed of at this special session. ask the southern states to enfranchise 2,000,000 negro women, or to expect California, Washington and Oregon, where white women already have the ballot, to add to their electorate 7,600 Chinese and Japanese women, who would thus be placed in possession of a privilege denied male Asiatics. The Mormon problem, vital in the three states, still further complicates the problem.

These seem very sound suggestions. Indeed, it appears probable that votes for women, as a national proposition, will have difficulty of enactment. It seems to be a state matter. In view of the fact that, with considerable rapidity, states are settling it favorably to the cause, it may be as well to let it go that way. The change is quite radical, and perhaps we can assimilate it better a little at a time.

SOME OF THE "GOODS" OF "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"

The Beloit Daily News refreshes our memory as to the true character of the "good old times" of which so much is being said, wistfully, nowadays. Permit us to quote some of the characteristics which to many of those who now complain rendered the "good old times" enviable days:

"The railroads charged three cents a mile for passengers and just what they wished for freight. They built what depots they wished, ran what trains they wanted to, carried freight just as they pleased and refused cars to some shippers and gave rebates to others.

"The person with a grievance against a railroad had to start a law suit. The railroads controlled the courts in large part, with the result that the complainant usually lost and had to pay the cost of his action.

"The railroads and the telegraph companies kept the state officials in passes and franks so that they didn't kick against the corporations.

"During the sessions of the legislature in some of the hotels of Madison poker games were run where legislators who couldn't be reached with bribes might easily win large sums of money from lobbyists.

"There were prostitutes installed in some of the hotels to influence legislators who could be reached in that way.

"There was no primary election law. Ward and precinct bosses controlled the caucus, elected what representatives they wished to the state conventions, so that the big bosses absolutely controlled the parties and named the state officers that would serve them.

"Do you want to go back to the old days when Charlie Pfister used to run things?"

"There was no civil service law and the incoming state officers filled all the places with political allies, who usually knew nothing of their duties, and were in the places to make money.

"The state banks and they frequently failed with losses to depositors.

"Public utilities were not supervised; they charged what they wished and furnished what service they wished.

"There was no supervision of stock and bond issues and all sorts of wild cat stocks were sold to innocent investors in this state.

"Assessments were made by local men, who assessed some property at 25 per cent of its value and some at 140 per cent. The poor man's property was usually assessed at the highest amount.

"The assessment of railroads and corporations was a farce and they paid but a fraction of their just taxes.

"There was practically no supervision over public health.

"Insurance companies carried great sums of money out of the state which are now returned to the policy holders."

Truly the special interests have come upon troublous times. No wonder they pine for those "good old days." But, as for the commonplace rest of us, "we should worry."

AIR JURY BRIBERY.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., April 2.—The story of how a jury in a murder case was bribed with money and liquor, was aired here today when the trial of Tracy Bangs and J. C. Mahon was resumed. Both are charged with giving money to J. A. Sullivan, former bailiff, in charge of the McLean Cooper jury two years ago. Sullivan declared yesterday that he was led to confession after looking at the body of Judge C. F. Templeton in a vault here. Templeton died several months after presiding at the Cooper murder trial.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Sure Sign of Spring
The days are getting longer, as in Spring they're apt to do;
The sun is getting stronger and the sky's a brighter blue;
The girls are busy planning Easter frills and furbelows;
The fellows bloom in gorgeous tinted ties and fancy hose.
The stores trim up their windows with a flowery display,
Reminding us it's drawing very near to Easter Day.
But there's a surer sign than all that Spring has come, for fair—
The cover's off the Fountain in the Court House Square!

They're taking up the board walks. The lawns are turning green. And midst the twigs upon the trees a fuzziness is seen.
Seed catalogues become a favored study on the cars,
And Bock Beer signs are greeting those who patronize the bars.
Upon the vacant city lots the boys are playing ball.
But there is not a single sign of Spring among them all.
That's ever so reliable or positive as where
The cover's off the Fountain in the Court House Square!

The sparrows chirp and chatter and kick up an awful fuss;
The painters and the paper-hangers get things in a muss;
Your home's turned topsy-turvy and you're told you're "in the way."

It's "Chaos" when Spring Cleaning is the order of the day!
They're taking the storm sashes out. Storm doors are taken down.
The signs confront you everywhere, that Spring has come to town.
But still you don't feel certain till you hear some-one declare—
"The cover's off the Fountain in the Court House Square!"
—Mark Forrest.

Settled Down
A well-known poet and benedict is accredited with a bon mot. A man the other day said to him:
"Oh, Mr. —, I have just been your wife for the first time since your marriage. But I had supposed that she was a taller woman. She seems shorter than when I last saw her."

"Certainly," replied the poet solemnly. "She has married and settled down, you know."

Soup's Advantage
It was a very thoughtful class in physiology.
"Why," asked the teacher, "is it best to eat soup first when one is very hungry?"
The pupils stared at her blankly. Then Jamie enlightened them from the depths of his experience.
"You can get it down faster," he announced.—The Delineator.

Needed Support
When a certain dandy of Mobile, Ala., announced his engagement to the dusky one of his choice the congratulations that were showered upon him included a note of wonder.
"Joe," said one of these friends,

He had never spoken like that before. It rather subdued her, made her regret that she had surrendered to a vanity that was without aim or direction. Farthest from her thought was conquest of the man. She did not wish to hurt him. She was not a coquette.

After dinner he did not suggest the usual promenade. Instead, he excused himself and went below.

They arrived at Pennang early Monday morning. Elsa decided that Warrington should take her and Martha on a personally conducted tour of the pretty town. As they left for shore he produced a small beautiful blue feather; he gave it to Elsa with the compliments of Rajah; and she stuck it in the pugree of her helmet.

"This is not from the dove of peace."

"It's arch-enemy, rather," he laughed. "I wish I had the ability to get as furious as that bird. It might do me a world of good."

"How long is it since you were here?"

"Four years," he answered without enthusiasm. He would not have come ashore at all but for the fact that Elsa had ordered the expedition.

There was no inclination to explore the shops; so they hired a landau and rode about town, climbed up to the quaint temple in the hills, and made a tour of the botanical gardens.

"Isn't it delicious!" murmured Elsa, taking in deep breaths of the warm spice-laden air. Since her visit to the wonderful gardens at Kandy in Ceylon, she had found a new interest in plants and trees.

She thoroughly enjoyed the few hours on land, even to the powwow Warrington had with the unscrupulous driver, who, at the journey's end, substituted one price for another, despite his original bargain. It was only a matter of two shillings, but Warrington stood firm. It had of necessity become a habit with him to haggle and then to stand firm upon the bargain made. There had been times when half an hour's haggling had meant breakfast or no breakfast. It never entered into his mind what Elsa's point of view might be. The average woman would have called him over-thrift. All this noise over two shillings! But to Elsa it was only the opening of another door into this strange man's character. What others would have accepted as peevishness she recognized as a sense of well-balanced justice. Most men, she had found, were afflicted with the vanity of spending, and permitted themselves to be imposed on rather than have others think

IN LIGHTER VEIN

"What's that which all love more than life,
Fear more than death or mortal strife;
That which contented men desire,
The poor possess, the rich require,
The miser spends, the spendthrift saves,
And all men carry to their graves?"

We clipped the verses from a little publication called "The Scrapbook" which comes to this office. Rather clever, don't you think? Of course you've solved the riddle. No? Well, never mind, it's nothing.

Said Scrapbook is inclined to be pertinent, or perhaps, impertinent. Witness the following, which we publish with apologies to the politicians of the "good old days":

"Midus (we read), with wondrous art, of old,
Whatever he touched at once transformed to gold;
This modern statesman can reverse with ease,
Touch them with gold, they'll turn to what you please."

SUFFRAGE A MATTER FOR THE STATES

Molly Elliott Seawell, in the current North American, punctures the proposed federal act to enfranchise the women of the United States. She points out the fact that this cannot be done by a sweeping national law, because conditions local to certain states require different lines of enactment. We quote:

"It is on the rock of race prejudice that the suffragists' bark would be sure to founder. It is useless to

The Salt of the Sea
Not long since a Scotch school board inspector asked the members of a class that was under examination:
"What is the cause of the saltiness of the ocean?"
Flushed with the discovery which had flashed upon her mind, one little girl raised her hand.
"You may tell," said the inspector.
"Salt fish, sir!" exclaimed the pupil triumphantly.

Why
"We don't have any grass growing in our streets," sneered the New Yorker.
"I dare say not," replied the Philadelphian. "I suppose your street car horses nibble it off as they browse along."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Like the Tip Artist
"No, my man, this is not mine. It was a $20 bill I lost."
"But it was a twenty dollar bill before I got it changed, sir."
"What did you get it changed for?"
"Och, sure, so the owner could conveniently reward me, sor."—Puck.

A Skin Game
Hiram: "Haw! Haw! Haw! I skinned one of them city fellers that put the lightning-rods on my house."
Sillas: "Ye did? How did you do it?"
Hiram: "Why, when I made out the check to pay him, I just signed my name without specifying the amount. I'll bet there will be somebody pretty mad when he goes to cash it."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Why She Didn't Like It
"Faint heart never won fair lady."
"Why so?"
"I consider it a slap at us brunettes."—Kansas City Journal.

The N' Yawk Idea
Small Suzanne, who lives in New York and has recently begun to study geography, came to dinner from her home work the other evening with a puzzled look. "Daddy," she said, "I don't exactly understand about the Rock Mountain—what they divide, I mean. Will you explain it to me please?" At the end of a rather detailed explanation she exclaimed joyfully: "Oh, now I understand. Thank you, daddy. You know, I always supposed before that Fifth avenue divided the east from the west."—Harper's Magazine.

IF MEALS SOUR AND TURN INTO GAS, TAKE SODA

When everything we eat turns to gas and we eructate sour food and acid fluids it means there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, says a noted authority. This irritating acid retards the process of digestion and promotes food fermentation. Our meals sour in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, constant belching of gas, sour risings or heartburn, fullness and often nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy a package of 10 grain Soda-agen tablets and take one tablet anytime followed by a tumbler of water which will instantly neutralize acidity, stop food fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

He further states that those troubled with chronic acidity should take one tablet regularly, an hour after meals for a while, as this simple antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

that money meant anything to them. Arthur would have paid the difference at once rather than have stood on the pier wrangling.

As they waited for the tender that was to convey them back to the ship, Elsa observed a powerful middle-aged man, gray-haired, hawk-faced, steel-eyed, watching her companion intently. Then his boring gaze traveled over her, from her canvas-shoes to her helmet. There was something so boldly appraising in the look that a flush of anger surged into her cheeks. The man turned and said something to his companion, who shrugged and smiled. Impatiently Elsa tugged at Warrington's sleeve.

"Who is that man over there by the railing?" she asked in a very low voice. "He looks as if he knew you."

"Knew me?" Warrington echoed. The moment he had been dreading had come. Some one who knew him! He turned his head slowly, and Elsa, who had not dropped her hand, could feel the muscles of his arm stiffen under the sleeve. He held the stranger's eye defiantly for a space. The latter laughed insolently if silently. It was more for Elsa's sake than for his own that Warrington allowed the other to stare him down. Alone, he would have surrendered to the Berserk rage that urged him to leap across the intervening space and annihilate the man, to crush him with his bare hands until he screamed for the mercy he had always denied others. As cold as ashes, "I shall tell you who he is later; not here."

For the second time since that night on the Irrawaddy, Elsa recorded a disagreeable sensation. It proved to be transitory, but at the time it served to establish a stronger doubt in regard to her independence, so justifiable in her own eyes. It might be insidiously leading her too far away from the stepping-off place. The unspoken words in those hateful eyes! The man knew Warrington, knew him perhaps as a malefactor, and judged his associates accordingly. She thus readily saw the place she occupied in the man's estimation. She experienced a shiver of dread as she observed that he stepped on board the tender. She even heard him call back to his friend to expect him in from Singapore during the second week in March. But the dread went away, and pride and anger grew instead. All the way back to the ship she held her chin in the air, and from time to time her nostrils dilated. That look! If she had been nearer she was certain that she would have struck him across the face.

"There will be no one up in the bow," said Warrington. "Will you go up there with me?"

After a moment's hesitation, she nodded.

The Lascars, busy with the anchor-chains, demurred; but a word and a gesture from the Sahib who had turned the hose on a drunken

WRITE STORIES FOR MOVING PICTURE PLAYS

New, Spare-time Profession for Men and Women—One Man Makes
$3,500 in Six Months

Owing to the large number of new motion picture theaters which are being opened throughout the country, there is offered to the men and women of today, a new profession, namely, that of writing moving picture plays. Producers are paying from $25 to $150 for each scenario accepted, upon which they can build a photo play.

$3,500 in Six Months
As it only requires a few hours'
time to construct a complete play, you can readily see the immense possibilities in this work. One man, who gave the idea a tryout, writes that he earned $3,500 in six months. It is possible for an intelligent person to meet with equal success.

One feature of the business which should appeal to everyone, is that the work may be done at home in spare time. No literary ability is required as men. Ideas for plots are constantly turning up, and may be put in scenario form and sold for a good price.

SECOND YEAR OF SELF SUPPORT

Church Membership Has Increased Fifteen Per Cent During the Year

The annual congregational meeting and banquet of the North Presbyterian church was held last evening in the church parlors more than a hundred attending. Contrary to precedent, the banquet was served by members of the boys' clubs of the church, instead of the ladies, who were guests of the occasion. Dr.
George W. Lueck acted as toastmaster, and presided over the meeting.
Balance in Treasury.

Prof. Harry Spence, treasurer for the past year, reported all bills of the church paid, and a balance in the treasury. Dr. Lueck, chairman of the board of trustees, made the following report:

“Tonight we can pride ourselves on finishing our second year of self-support, and considering conditions in our community, we feel that the church work has been prosecuted very successfully. At each of the communion services, new members have been received into the church, and since March 31, 1913, our membership has increased fifteen per cent. Of course, some members have been lost by removal and death, but by continuously receiving a few new members we are bound to progress. While other churches have engaged evangelists and spent considerable money in evangelistic campaigns in order to increase their membership, we have made progress without any of this extra expense.”

“All of the organizations of the church are in a flourishing condition, and financially, we, no doubt, have had the biggest year in our history. During the summer the trustees decided to purchase a manse in lieu of increasing the pastor's salary. Accordingly, the property at Avon and Gillette streets was

RESINOL STOPS ITCHING INSTANTLY

It is a fact that the moment Resinol Ointment touches itching skin, the the aid of Resinol Soap, it almost always clears away all trace of eczema, other tormenting, unsightly eruption quickly, leaving the skin clear and Ointment. There is nothing in them to injure the tenderest surface. Resinol eighteen years has been used by careful physicians for all kinds of skin affections. They prescribe Resinol freely, confident that its soothing, healing action is brought about by medication

the most delicate or irritated skin—even of a tiny baby.

druggist in the United States, but you can prove at our expense what it will do for you. Write today to Dept. I-M,

NORTH SIDER IS CRUSHED IN MINE

In the account of the death of W.
C. Stotera, formerly a resident of the north side and an employee of the Burlington, the Conrad (Montana)
Independent says, “W. C. Stotera, a well known and highly respected rancher whose home was eleven miles west of Conrad, was instantly killed at half past four Saturday (March 14) afternoon, while working in what is called the free coal bank, three miles west of his home.
Stotera with his two sons went to the coal mine early Saturday morning, and had worked all day getting out coal. They were working in an old tunnel, which without the slightest warning, caved in and completely buried the unfortunate man.
The crush of the falling dirt, and the fact that he was completely buried for a short time, caused death almost instantly.”

PLAYFUL BRUN PAWS PASSERS

DULUTH, Minn., April 2.—Eight year old Lottie Sanders is in a hospital suffering severe scalp wounds and John Bergman is at home with a badly lacerated face, because a pet bear owned by Mrs. John Nonnemacher became too playful yesterday. The bear broke out of a shed and took to the street, playfully pawing every pedestrian in sight. A policeman shot bruin as he was lumbering down town.

F. R. A. BANQUET

To celebrate the second anniversary of the F. R. A. Dramatic club and also to show appreciation of the work done by the members of the cast of the "Cheerful Liar company," the order will give tonight at Linker hall, a dance, banquet and program for the benefit of the members and dramatic club. The whole evening will be devoted to entertainment. The affair will be for members only. Andre's orchestra has been engaged for the event and the festivities start at 8 o'clock and continue until 12:30. Tables are to be set around the hall and enough space left in the center for those who wish to dance, so that it will resemble a cabaret scene. The head table will be reserved especially for the "Cheerful Liar company," or those who helped in the show in some way. The committee in charge of the affair have made arrangements to seat 175 members. During this time the orchestra will give a musical program. Immediately thereafter the members of the Dramatic club will respond to toasts as follows:

History of the F. R. A. Dramatic club—Mayne Morgan.
Solo—Dorothy Ledegar.
Just a Bum Actor—Walter Stendel.
Solo—Mike Nowak.
Troubles of a Director—A. C. Radke.
A Few Dance Steps—Prof. Falls.

Progressive cluch was played and prizes were awarded to Mesdames Rossberg, Kohn, Briebach and Mr. Dan Whalen. The next Yeomen social will be held next Tuesday evening.

Monday afternoon the members of the Rowena circle, B. A. Y., entertained their friends at 500. Prizes were won by Miss Wachsmuth and Mesdames Dennison, Hirschheimer, Rossberg, Roth and Raymond. The circle will hold their regular meeting.

NEVER HAD A BATH

DENVER, Colo., April 2.—The city health department today discovered a lad who never once during his three years of existence has suffered the ignominy of having the back of his neck scrubbed or, for that matter, any of the rest of his chubby anatomy. He and soap are still to meet. Abie was recently vaccinated and his mother took him to the city hall to see why his arm did not heal. The health officer suggested that Abie be washed, but his mother did not get the drift of the idea, saying she "had never done that to Abie in his life." Abie looked it.

WANTS GOULD ROAD?

REPORTED THAT JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER MAY SUPPLY PRICE OF MISSOURI PACIFIC

NEW YORK, April 2.—Reports that George Gould may sell the Missouri Pacific to a syndicate of bankers in which John D. Rockefeller's money may figure were current here today on the stock exchange. There is no doubt, it was said that the buyers are ready to do business provided Gould will sell them 200,000 shares in the road.

The impression is general that Missouri Pacific brings Gould little return, but it was believed that for sentimental reasons he is determined to stick to his ownership until the road rehabilitates itself. Should Gould agree to sell one of the biggest deals of recent years would be consummated.

As a rule, the members of the down and out club know how they won their membership.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

ing Tuesday afternoon. Progressive cluch will be played after the meeting.

THE BIJOU

GERMAN CLUB TO HEAR A READING

Wife of Prof. Bernhardt to Entertain Normal Students in German Talk

The German club of the normal school will hold its regular weekly meeting tonight. Several numbers of interest have been arranged for the program, among them being a reading in German by Mrs. Bernhardt, the wife of the head of the chemistry department. Miss Cora Van de Water will sing a number of songs, and Miss Stella Osborn will render several selections on the violin.

The meeting of the Sapphonian club has been postponed for a week. The program announced last night will be given at that time.

The boys' choir under the direction of Miss Van de Water sang "The Boating Song," by Gaynor, and "Merry Life," at the morning assembly today. They were enthusiastically received on their first public appearance and sang beautifully. They were forced to repeat their last number. Charles Weiss was the accompanist.

The Websterian and Eclectic debating societies of the normal debated the following question in their respective societies last night: "Resolved, that a minimum wage law should be enacted by all state legislatures." The negative side won in both societies. After the debate the Eclectic society adjourned to a social time, refreshments were served and music was enjoyed. The two societies will meet in the near future in a debate on the above stated question. They have also arranged to have a joint banquet in the near future. The banquet will be a formal affair for the members and their lady friends.

The girls' Forum club and the Websterian and Eclectic Debating societies have arranged for a series of debates to be held before June. It is also planned to hold an intersociety oratorical contest in which all the literary societies of the school will participate.

Mr. Hallie Roberts and Mr. Robinson, both graduates of the school, are among the numerous alumni of the school now here spending their spring vacation renewing old acquaintances.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—On the arrival today of the steamer Ventura from Australia, a man on board was arrested on charge of having cracked the strong box of the vessel and having taken $50,000 during the voyage. He was taken to the police station, but no names or details have yet been announced.

penses of the state government have been kept far below the appropriations provided by the last legislature. For example, on June 30 next, almost three hundred thousand dollars will have been saved out of the appropriation for new buildings at the state university alone; about $171,000 will be saved from the appropriations made to the board of control for the support of the penal and charitable institutions of the state; approximately $175,000 will be saved out of the appropriations to the normal schools; and so of many another state institution and board. As a result state taxes will be very much lower next year.

"But the principal cause of high taxes this year is the recently inaugurated good roads movement; and this subject does not lend itself so readily to the same sort of treatment. In a measure it is beyond my control. State taxes levied for this purpose have increased from $350,000 in 1912 to $1,650,000 in 1913. Thus the increase is almost fivefold. Moreover, for each dollar levied by the state the counties are required approximately to contribute another dollar and the towns still another so that about $4,600,000 in all will be available for highway construction and improvement this year. If there is to be either a reduction in expenditure or a change of policy it must be brought about through co-operation with the people of the towns and counties and with their consent. Besides, if a special session of the legislature should be called it will mean merely the re-assembling of the men who passed the present highway appropriation law less than a year ago with only seven opposing votes in both houses. If they be again called together they should, if possible, have for their guidance a clear and unequivocal mandate from the people as to what action they should take. The annual town meeting is an appropriate occasion to consider and determine this. I shall be greatly obliged to you, therefore, if you will submit the following questions to the people assembled at your town meeting next Tuesday and advise me of their answers:

The Questions

"1. Are you in favor of reducing the state appropriation for highway aid? If so, how much?

"2. Many towns do not apply for the share of state aid to which they are entitled. Are you in favor of reserving in the state treasury for a limited period (say three years) the amount of state aid to which each town would be entitled if it applied for the same at once, so that every district may receive its proper proportion of the highway fund which it helped to create?

"3. Are you in favor of repealing that portion of the present law which permits automobile and other private organizations by the deposit of a certain amount of money, to force towns to undertake highway improvement?

"4. Are you in favor of an amendment to the constitution which will give the governor of the state power to veto bad items in an appropriation bill without being compelled to disapprove the bill as a whole?

"5. Should a special session be called, are you in favor of a legislative rule that will give the governor a chance to veto vicious appropriations without at the same time defeating good ones and so enable him to exercise some control over tax legislation for which he is held responsible by the people?

"I am sending a similar letter to all the town clerks in the state to be read at the approaching town meeting. Please advise me at your earliest convenience of the action of the people of your town upon the matters herein submitted to them.

"Very truly yours,
"FRANCIS E. MCGOVERN,
"Governor."

PREFERS JAIL TO ALIMONY

MINNEAPOLIS, April 2.—Edward Brodcast, champion alimony prisoner, who has languished in the county jail for five months because he refuses to obey a court order to pay his wife $35 a month for her support and that of their three children, lost his fight for release today when Judge Leary dismissed an appeal for a writ of habeas corpus. He went back to jail, vowing he would stay there forever rather than pay a cent.

WHO'S IN CONTROL OF TORREON TODAY

Rebels and Federals Both Claim It's All Over but the Shouting

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 2.—Torreón is already virtually in the possession of Gen. Francisco Villa's troops. Villa will not officially announce his victory until he is absolutely in undisputed control, was the statement made here today by a high official of the constitutional government. He declares he has proof that all but two small remnants of the federal garrison of Gen. Jose Refugio Velasco, once numbering more than 8,000, had been dispersed. He indicated that Villa was withholding the news in order to carry out a coup which would result in the capture of federal reinforcements rushing toward Torreón.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The arrival of General Huerta's federal reinforcements at Torreón was reported today to Senor Algora, Mexican charge d'affaires in a dispatch from the Mexican consulate at El Paso. The report said that the federal column had entered the town; that the defenders of Torreón were still holding out and were confident of ultimate success. The dispatch said Villa has expended his entire force and made his greatest effort and the federals are in no danger of being driven from the city.

$38,134.78 IS THE INCOME TAX

The income tax collected in La Crosse county this year amounted to $38,134.78 according to figures compiled by the county treasurer today. Of this amount $37,68.00 was collected in the city of La Crosse and the balance, $45.88 in the remainder of the county.

City Treasurer George Young yesterday paid $11,360.67 to County Treasurer William Garbers as the county and state's share of the city income tax. This with the county revenue totals $11,752.55. Of this amount $3,917.51 goes to the state and $7,835.04 to the county. The city nets $26,828.11 from the income tax.

BLINDS LOVER—KILLS SELF.

CHICAGO, April 2.—Complaining that his affections had grown cold, Teck Gustafson, 27, threw carbolic acid in the face of her lover, Warren Dickson. She then swallowed several ounces. Dickson lost one eye. The girl is dying.

COUNTY OFFICER GETS WRONG MAN SHERIFF RETURNS

Sheriff John Weber yesterday made a trip to New Albin, Ia., to bring back John Hamburger, wanted here for highway robbery, only to find that a zealous country constable had arrested the wrong man.

Hamburger, who was but recently released from Waupun, is wanted here for alleged robbery and assault of John Stugen, a Lanesboro farmer.

Police Chief J. B. Webber sent pictures and description of the man to surrounding towns. Yesterday a long distance telephone message announced the arrest.

Sheriff Weber went to find that instead of Hamburger the authorities there were holding a yokel, too bewildered to deny that he had ever been in La Crosse.

SCAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 2.—Borne by men who knew him and cheered him when he was in the heyday of his baseball career, the remains of George Edward (Rube) Waddell, who died yesterday afternoon, will be laid at rest at Mission Burial park here this afternoon. While the funeral will be held under the auspices of the Elks, the members of the San Antonio baseball club will be present.

FAKE POLICEMAN SCARES JESTERS

Students Who Attempted to Fix Up April Foolishness Fooled Themselves by Alois Brown

STARTS TRIO FOR THE STATION

Penitent Party Starts in Quaking Misery for Jail but Laugh Unmasks Captor

Alois Brown, son of the city hall janitor, and a student at the local normal school, played policeman late Tuesday night and instilled panic into the minds of three would-be April Fool jokesters of the school. The story leaked out today and the trio of jesters whose joke went wrong is being mercilessly kidded by fellow students.

The jokesmiths who were "pinched" are Marcus Byers, 1348 Kane street, Louie Lee, Cashton, Wis., and Ferris Jackson, Alma Center, Wis.

Brown is "in" on all the stunts to be pulled off by the students. Word came to him that three of the fellows were going to enter the building late on Tuesday night to fix up a fine April fool joke. They were going to gain entrance through the gym windows.

Disguises as "Cop"

Brown saw an opportunity to have some fun, and borrowing a helmet, coat and club from the local police department he proceeded to the scene of action. The three dusky forms were seen by him from his hiding place to mount the engine room roof and make their way to the gym windows. Just as they were about to enter, Brown made himself visible.

Thinking it a real officer of the law they scampered away in all haste.

Brown followed them to their rooming place. The culprits had hurried to bed, and when Brown saw their lights go out he mounted the porch and rang the door bell. The proprietor of the rooming house answered his call and was dumbfounded when he was met by an officer who demanded in the name of the law the arrest of the tricksters.

Their landlord aroused them from their slumbers and told them of the circumstances they were in. They could not resist an officer, so they got up and dressed. The three of them filed out of the front door and went single file down the street, with the fake cop at their heels.

Laugh Reveals Captor

All went well until Twelfth and Main streets were reached. Here Brown noticed that one of the trio was so frightened that he visibly shivered. Not being able to stand the strain longer, the "copper" burst into hilarious laughter.

The sound of Brown's voice revealed his identity. The jesters immediately got over their scare, and threatened dire things for the "officer," whose mirth had collapsed him against a telephone pole, if he should breathe a word of the adventure.

But it wouldn't keep.

MILLER FARM IS BEST IN COUNTY

W. F. Miller of West Salem Wins Title in Competition with Twenty Others

Out of twenty farms of the county represented in the farm contest at the La Crosse county agricultural school at Onalaska, the W. F. Miller farm of West Salem was picked as the best in the county and the farms of the Von der Ohe brothers of West Ealem and of J. O. Gaarder of Holmen took second and third places respectively. W. F. Miller will represent the county in the state contest to be held sometime in the near future, the winners of which will receive $300 in prizes, offered by former Governor W. D. Hoard.

The farm management contest being held under the auspices of the college of agriculture of the state university is the first of its kind to be held in the United States. Ten counties of the state are participating, representing 150 farms, 21 of them being in La Crosse county. This county has made an exceptionally good showing, the average results per farm being nearly $800 a year more than the results of the 130 other farms throughout the state.

The purposes of the contest are to study the conditions on the farms and to bring out the factors making for success. The strong and the weak points in the operation of the individual farms are given, and the weak points righted.

The following farmers entered in the county contest today: R. W. Ristow, Wm. Moos, W. H. Whitebeck, Onalaska; Otto Wolfe, Gust Koch, John Hauser, Peter Larson, F. P. Markle, La Crosse; W. D. Sandman, Kilmer, Gaarder, M. C. Nelson, B. N. Nelson, Holmen; H. G. Rogers, Stoddard; Jippa Wellinger, Midway, and Geo. Hoeth, Hiram Lovejoy, Ray Lewis, Von der Ohe brothers and W. F. Miller, West Salem.

RAILWAY HEADS DELIVER THREAT

Say if They Don't Get Five Per Cent Raise in Rates They Will Retrench

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Notice was served on the interstate commerce commission by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad system, at the hearing today of application of the eastern roads for a five per cent increase in freight rates that "unless the gap between receipts and expenditures can be widened, the Pennsylvania must begin to retrench." Rea's testimony followed that of President A. E. Smith of the New York Central.

Suggestions by Rea and Smith that declining net earnings was impairing the credit of the road roused opposition.

Commissioner McChord asked Smith whether the "proclamation from the housestops that there is 'crisis' had not something to do with this condition?"

Smith denied the belief and the fact that he had "cried it from the housestops."

Why Do French Women Always Look Young?

In France mothers and daughters look like sisters. How are the women there able to retain their youthful looks until long past middle age? Is it because they are much given to the use of mercurial war? This war possesses a remarkable absorbent property which quickly removes the fine particles of cuticle which are constantly dying and which are the immediate cause of an old-looking complexion. Thus the livelier, healthier, younger skin beneath is given a chance to breathe and show itself. Try this treatment yourself. No likely it will not require two weeks to make your complexion as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. Just an ounce of mercurial war (all American druggists have it) usually does the work. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings.

Another valuable secret with which the French are familiar is how to quickly remove wrinkles. One ounce of powdered exfolite dissolved in a half pint which has been made a marvellously effective astrigent lotion. The face should be bathed in this daily until even the deepest lines are affected.

By all means, don't miss this three part Eclectic feature, five reel show. Last times today. Adults 10c, Children 5c.

CORDELIA LEE IS SECOND OLE BULL

Miss Cordelia Lee stands out in the front ranks of the best violinists of the present age. She has a clear, melodious tone, and a fine, full execution. From her violin she pours forth, as it were, the melodies of countless canaries and mockingbirds, with the sweetness of all the songsters. There are the zephyrs, the ripple of the reeds, and the distant roar of the sea mingled in the symphonies that flow from her violin at every touch. In addition to Miss Lee's exceptional artistic ability, which holds a spellbound, is a very attractive personality. Nature has endowed her with not only a lovely figure, but a charming beauty. Miss Lee will appear at the La Crosse theater on April 16.

LAWLER FACTION BOLTS CONFERENCE

Credentials Ruling Rouses Ire of Anti-Lynch Men and They Walk from Convention

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 2.—Amid a storm of hooting and cheering, Lawler delegates to the democratic state convention late yesterday bolted the session.

The revolt was led by the Lawler men from Hennepin county, protesting the credentials committee's decision to recommend the seating of the rival Hennepin delegations, with a half vote for each. They went to an upper room in the Auditorium to consider the feasibility of holding a rump convention.

"Tyranny" in Charge
The meeting place was in an uproar as the delegates took their leave. With a dozen men vainly seeking recognition from the chair, the voice of William Quinn, St. Paul, alone was distinguishable as he yelled: "This action of the credentials committee is undemocratic. It is tyranny that ought to be rebuked. It is an outrage."

Fight at Primaries
After the disaffected delegates had departed and a semblance of order had been obtained, Ed A. Stevens of St. Paul, one of the Lawler men, returned to the main meeting room and obtained leave to speak.

"This doesn't settle it," he shouted as an uproar broke out again. "We will meet you at the primaries and just watch us then."

Dan W. Lawler arrived in the afternoon and was cheered by Hennepin and Ramsey county delegations. He appeared to have but one or two other counties.

Don't Poison Baby.

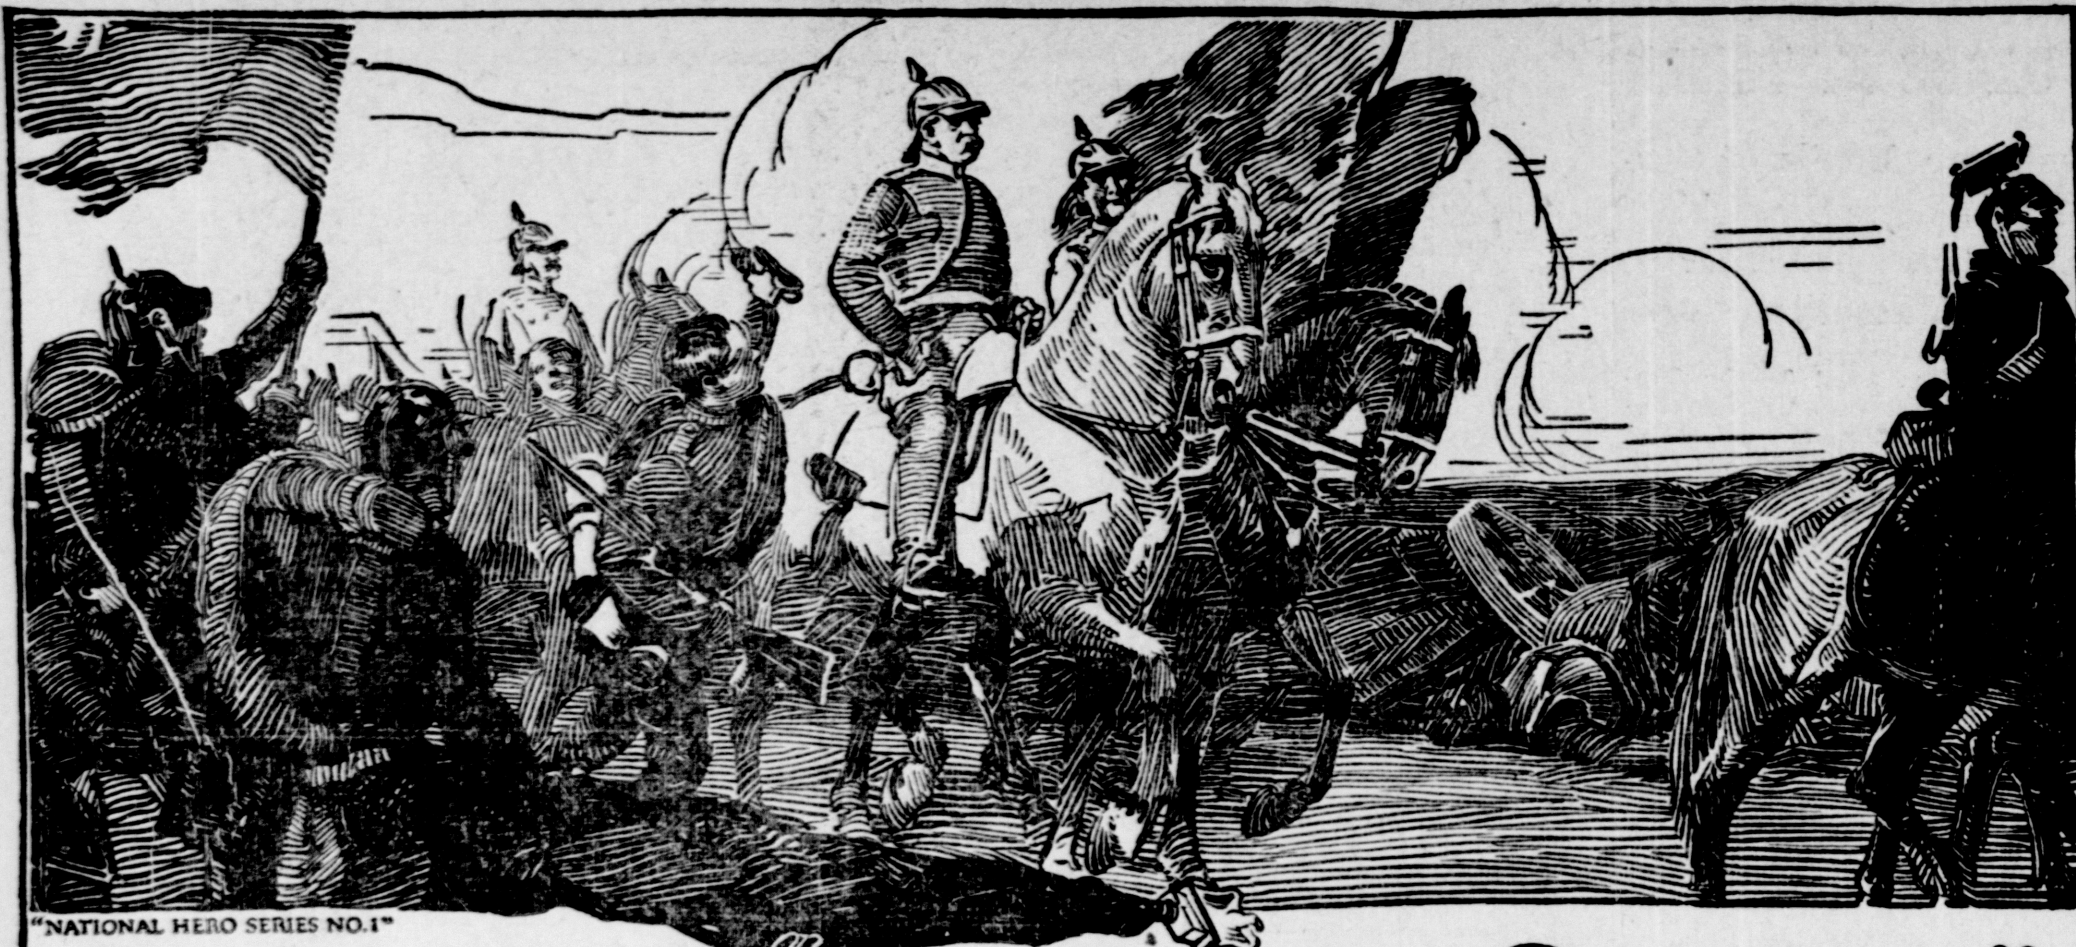

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without your or your physician's knowledge of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Bismarck—the Greatest of the Germans

BISMARCK, like all Germans, prized Personal Liberty as the breath of life—a NATURAL RIGHT to be guarded and defended at any cost. Among our millions of law-abiding German-American citizens there is not a man who does not consider it insolent tyranny of the most odious kind for any legislation to issue this command: "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that." Germans know that there is no evil in the light wines and beers of their fathers. EVIL ONLY IS IN THE MAN WHO MISUSES THEM. Fifty-seven years ago ANHEUSER-BUSCH founded their great institution upon the tenets of the Constitution of the United States. During these fifty-seven years they have honestly brewed an honest beer—the kind that has added to the temperance of nations. Their great brand—BUDWEISER—is demanded throughout the world. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles, proving it to be in a class by itself.

"DRY FIGHT ON IN STATE CITIES

All Liquor

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—Nearly a dozen Wisconsin cities will vote on the no-license issue next Tuesday. Communities where hot campaigns are on include Madison, Janesville, Beloit, Edgerton, Stoughton, Watertown, River Falls, Sparta and Rice Lake. Stoughton is already dry, and the license people are struggling to regain their lost ground.

The Madison campaign is at fever heat, yet is marked by a singular lack of hysteria. The dries are more confident of victory than ever before.

The Madison movement was begun by the Gideons, and the churches joined. The district attorney, R. N. Nelson, is one of their strongest backers. University students are being organized and student speakers have taken the platform.

START PLANS FOR SUPERIOR NORMAL

Building Destroyed by Fire
Will Be Replaced by Concrete Unit System Institution

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 2.—The construction of a modern, fireproof building to replace the state normal structure destroyed here by fire Friday night was practically agreed upon at a meeting held here by the executive committee of the board of normal regents. Work will be started as soon as the site can be cleared of the ruins and it is expected the new building will be ready for occupancy by the middle of September.

In all probability the "unit system" will be used, making it possible to enlarge as additional space may be needed, each unit being in effect a building protected against fire from the other parts of the institution. Reinforced concrete is proposed for the building material, with a "veneer" of tile, brick or stone.

SPOTLIGHTS

JACK BESSEY STOCK

The attraction at the La Crosse Theater for the last half of this week starting today will be a four act western comedy drama, "The Man From Wyoming." This is a true story of real life as it is today in Wyoming, and not one of those exaggerated, noisy, wild and woolly plays that are usually presented for a western bill. The characters are all well balanced, and there is a strong vein of good clean comedy all through. While there are plenty of sensational situations and considerable gun play, there is not one shot fired throughout the entire performance. It is a play that pleases all classes from the gallery to the pit and is one of the biggest drawing cards in the repertoire of the Jack Bessey Stock company. Vaudeville between acts.

SEATTLE WANTS

HERO IN FRONT

SEATTLE, Wash., April 2.— If the United States gets into war with the rest of the world, Representative Humphrey of Washington will be given a conspicuous position on the firing line, if the citizens of Seattle can arrange it.

Thomas R. Horner, a local attorney, and a number of other prominent men today telegraphed Humphrey at Washington as follows:

"We have read your brilliant speech declaring your own and your country's willingness to fight the world. In such a gigantic struggle, your patriotic services will be needed and we proffer our efforts to obtain for you a conspicuous position in the front of the firing line."

JOE WELLING WINS

20 ROUND BATTLE

Joe Welling added another victory to his list last night when he defeated Picato on the coast in a twenty round battle. Welling got his opponent from the start and forced the fighting throughout. Joe had the better of seventeen of the twenty rounds and was given the decision.

MANY COMPLAINTS

OF ROLLER SKATES

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen has re- ceived many complaints of the noise made by children using roller skates on the cement sidewalks. Many of the complaints come from homes wherein sick people are confined.

The matter will be referred to the city attorney and if the police have authority roller skating may be stopped.

CHILDREN TO CLEAN UP

JANESVILLE, Wis., April 2.— Eight hundred school children have been enlisted in a clean up campaign here.

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The stock market opened quiet with unimportant price changes. Union Pacific, Reading, Steel and other leaders showed fractional losses, but Copper issues were strong.

11 a. m.—The general market made a disappointing response to the advance in Union Pacific and at the end of the first hour stocks were off a little from the best with only a very moderate volume of activity. The large interests seemed to be determined that speculators should not start a premature bull movement.

Noon—There was only a waiting market in the second hour and at its end trading was dull, but the undertone was firm. It was the opinion that a waiting policy would rule until the decision in the railroad cases is known.

2 p. m.—There was practically no business done during the early afternoon. Although the mysterious heavy selling of Missouri Pacific continued the prices kept up.

There was considerable activity in the general list in the late afternoon and stocks closed strong.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, April 2.—Wheat displayed surprising strength at the start today in the face of distinctly favorable crop news from all quarters and a lower cable. Prices early in the day were a shade higher but at noon May showed a loss of a fraction and July of 1/2 c from last night's closing figures.

Corn had a firm undertone. Both months made fractional advances early in the day and maintained them throughout the forenoon, offerings being light.

Oats was steady, taking its cue from corn. Prices were even a trifle higher early in the day but the advance was lost.

Provisions were firm and higher account stronger hog market.

Wheat bulged 1/2 c for May futures in the afternoon and jumped a full cent for July under a buying rally. Corn and oats futures gained 1/2 c due to the advance in wheat.

Provisions closed at about noon prices.

FANCIES

Field and track athletics got a big boost at the high school yesterday afternoon, in the annual interclass indoor meet. As was expected, the sophomores copped the title, winning handily over the other three classes. Some material of promise appeared, and the men seem to be in first class shape to start open air work. Adair, '14, looks like a comer in the high jump. He made 5.5 yesterday without extending himself, and is undoubtedly able to do much better.

Lacking a pentathlon competition in the list of events at the interclass meet, Chief Kromroy had to satisfy himself with two and a half firsts. He had to split the shotput points with Taylor.

The Y. M. C. A. is supposed to close for the night at 10.30, but at 12 last night it was still open—the occasion being the gabfest which followed the volleyball games between Winona and La Crosse business men. Winona repeated its victory of a week or so ago, but not so easily. There was considerable excitement about the game, all of the business men having planted their families in the gallery to root. Dutifully, they all rooted, and despite the inexperience of some of the ladies the volume of noise was creditable.

The question now arises at the Y. M. C. A.: Can the scrubs beat the regulars?

The first volleyball team got licked by Winona—three straight. The second got licked by Winona second—two out of three. In view of the fact that the Winona seconds licked the Winona firsts six straight last Saturday, the local scrubs now insist that they play a better game than the first team. It has been suggested that the scrubs play the "dubs" for the right to use the title "first team."

Rube Waddell is dead. With all his vagaries and eccentricities, he was a great ball player in his time, and there is mourning today among his friends in the majors and minors. He made a name for himself as much by his playing as by his erratic conduct, and he will go down in the annals of the game as one of the old time heroes like Pop Aason and A. G. Spalding.

ANGELS TO PLAY BASEBALL GAMES

CADILLAC, Mich., April 2.—Here is a place for Branch Rickey to get gently recruited for the St. Browns.

Thirty members of the Olivet college team have signed a pledge not to smoke, drink or SWEAR during the season, not to attend parties on the night before a game, to attend practice every day and to report any other player caught smoking, drinking or swearing.

Yes—they've been nicknamed "The Angels."

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, April 2.—Two nine inning games, a brisk workout and some road work yesterday turned the Hoosier Federals out today with shortened belts and long appetites. "Whoa Bill" Phillips has been merciless.

Post Mortems
(BY HAL SHERIDAN.)

NEW YORK, April 2.—The open season for boils, carbuncles and blistered hands among college men is rapidly approaching. Active work for the crews of the various universities is now under way and the rowing form and speed of the varsity eights will be built up in proportion to the number of boils developed, until the season reaches its climax in a blaze of glory, carbuncles and cheers at the Poughkeepsie regatta.

At Cornell Coach Courtney established his training table today. Syracuse had its first outdoor work on Onondaga lake yesterday. Princeton has been hard at work and Coach Spaeth has been able to get sufficient line on his men to warrant a shift toward getting more power in the varsity boat.

It has been decided that Wisconsin will be represented again at Poughkeepsie. Arrangements are now being made to provide the Badgers with permanent training quarters on the river. Columbia has been able to take the water and active training is in progress.

In an attempt to learn the sentiment of various college coaches toward the much discussed question of doing away with the four mile race and placing the distance at three miles, the Yale News secured interviews from eight coaches. The result simply showed a hopeless division. Rice, Columbia, Spaeth, Princeton, Guernsey, Leland Stanford, and Courtney, Cornell, are opposed to the four mile race and believe the distance should be cut down. Ehler, Wisconsin, appeared lukewarm on the proposition. Nickalls of Pennsylvania, said he would favor the three mile race if a twenty year agreement for that distance was signed up. Otherwise he fears the race may be cut to two miles and then a mile. Cornbear of Washington and Ten Eyck, Syracuse, stood by the old four mile struggle.

Rube Unreliable

The highest salary the late Rube Waddell ever received was $3,000 a year, and he was one of the greatest left handed pitchers who ever lived. Compare Waddell's top salary with that received by some of the top notchers or even some of the mediocre pitchers of today. But no one could handle the Rube, and his vitality was gone long before the cunning of his arm had fled.

MOTHERS SCORED FOR GIRLS' DRESS

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—The effort to get eugenics into the school curriculum is just one more effort of the home to slip another burden on to the schools, said Mrs. H. K. Curtis in a talk yesterday to the executive board of the Wisconsin Congress of Mothers and the presidents of the allied parent-teacher associations of the city. "There isn't one teacher in fifty who is fit or wants to teach eugenics. The place for that is in the home."

"The way girls are allowed to dress and appear upon the street and the freedom given them to express their freak notions in their attire is largely to blame for the number of girl delinquents."

"You can't put the blame on the shoulders of these inexperienced children. You can't put it on the city, neither can you slide it off onto the school. It is the home that is to blame."

SPORTSRUBE WADDELL DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS

Famous Southpaw Twirler
Dead in San Antonio After Erratic Baseball
Career of 17 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 2.—Rube Waddell, famous baseball pitcher, died here Wednesday of tuberculosis. He came to the south several months ago in quest of health.

George Edward Waddell, one of the greatest of pitchers, was noted nearly as much for his eccentricities as for his ability as a ball player. In the seventeen years he spent in professional baseball he held positions with twelve teams and, including "return engagements," had fourteen jobs. His longest term of service was with the Philadelphia Athletics, where, under the watchful eye of Connie Mack, he pitched winning ball for half a dozen seasons.

During the fifteen years of his active pitching career Waddell never fell below the .500 percentage mark. His average for the total of 409 games was .654 per cent. Following are the teams with which Rube worked as a slab artist:

1898, Detroit; 1899, Columbus; 1899, Louisville; 1900, Pittsburgh; 1900, Milwaukee; 1901, Chicago; 1902, Athletics; 1903, Athletics; 1904, Athletics; 1905, Athletics; 1906, Athletics; 1907, Athletics; 1908, St. Louis; 1909, St. Louis; 1910, Newark; 1911, Minneapolis; 1912, Minneapolis.

Despite his marvelous record Rube's highest salary was $3,000 per year.

Waddell's inability to keep in condition discouraged most other managers and indirectly was responsible for his contracting tuberculosis, which caused his death. There was no better pitcher than he when he was in form, but he, as well as managers and clubowners, was aware of his powerlessness to resist tempta-

Born in 1876 Waddell shared with Robert Glade the strikeout record of the American league. On July 29, 1908, while pitching for the St. Louis Americans to which team he had just been released by Mack, he fanned sixteen of the Athletics, his former teammates.

Waddell was born in Butler, Pa., on Oct. 13, 1876. When 20 years of age, in 1896, he pitched his first professional ball with the Oil City, Pa., team and the next year, after a brief career with the Volant college Pa., nine, he entered "big league" baseball as a member of the Louisville National league team.

The following incident will serve to give the reader a true idea of the Rube more than impulsive self:

In 1898 while working for Vander Beck, then owner of the Detroit team, in the Western league, Waddell began to cut up capers that attracted widespread attention. One fine Sunday, Rube hid himself to the sandlots to watch the future "greats" perform. He had no sooner arrived on the field than a request was made of him to serve as umpire. To this George E. readily consented and so interested did he become that before the game was half over, he had ordered one of the kid pitchers from the game and was pitching his head off himself.

For this little indulgence—this fracture of the rules of a club operating under the national agreement, Waddell was fined $50. It might as well have been a thousand dollars, for Rube never had more than 70 cents in his possession at one time.

However, Waddell pitched himself into Van's good graces, for in the next game against Minneapolis he held the Millers to four singles and fanned eleven batters. The $50 fine was lifted and Vander Beck presented the Rube with a dozen red neckties in addition.

This tickled George Edward; so pleased was he that he insisted on pitching the very next day—against St. Paul. He did and was reached for thirteen safeties, losing 12 to 5. Vander Beck at once touched Rube for another fine—another $50. He also demanded the return of the neckties. G. E. had "soaked" the neck scenery, however, and fearing lest he would be arrested for doing so, he jumped the league and beat it over the line into Canada.

Sold to Browns The Minneapolis club bought Waddell in 1910 and he was two years with that club. Illness began to get the better of him and last spring he was added to the roster of the Minneapolis Northern league club.

Last fall M. E. Cantillon of the Minneapolis club sent Waddell to Texas in an effort to prolong his life. Waddell, at the time, considered his days as numbered and told his friends that he was soon to die.

FAT MAN A WINNER

NEW YORK, April 2.—Those who witnessed the Tom Kennedy-Jack Burns bout at the Olympic Athletic club of Harlem are wondering today whether it was a takeoff or a tragedy. Kennedy, hopelessly fat, won in six rounds.

WINONA REPEATS VOLLEY BALL WIN

Take Four Out of the Five Games Played Here Last Night Against Business
Men's Teams

Winona repeated last night. Out of five games between the Winona and La Crosse business men's volleyball teams, the upriver ball punchers won four. The games were played at the Y. M. C. A. here before a crowd of 300 rooting spectators.

The second teams played first, starting promptly at 8:30. La Crosse won the second game out of the three. The scores were as follows: Winona 21, La Crosse 9; Winona 15, La Crosse 21; Winona 21, La Crosse 11.

After a brief interval the first teams clashed, playing two games. The scores were Winona 21, La Crosse 15; Winona 21, La Crosse 16.

The second team's victory over the Winonans was the first won by La Crosse in some ten games played with Winona volleyball teams. At the recent match in Winona La Crosse lost all games played.

Following the games last night a lunch was served to the twenty-four men comprising the Winona delegation and to the local players and their friends. The feast was provided by the wives of some of the La Crosse players.

The La Crosse lineup follows: Captain Kinnear, Stickle, Hankerson, Denton, Moore, Curtis and Scullin comprised the first team, and Captain Leahy, McConnell, Pleyer, McCormick, Holley, Fowler, Pryor and Reay the second team.

SHETTSLINE WASTES TIME SAYS BRENNAN

SHREVEPORT, La., April 2.—Court action will be taken by the Phillies to prevent Pitcher Tom Seaton from playing with the Chicago Federals, according to Secretary William H. Shettsline of the Phillies who is at the Chicago Federals' training camp here seeking to induce Seaton and Ad Brennan to return to the Phillies.

"Seaton accepted our terms by wire before jumping to the Federals and we can prove it," said Shettsline.

Though Shettsline sought another private conference with Seaton and Brennan today, both players said they were wasting his time here. There was a near rough house in the hotel lobby last night when Manager Joe Tinker bawled out Shettsline for attempting to grab his players and made caustic comment on alleged mistreatment of players by the Philadelphia management.

INCOME OVER MILLION

CHICAGO, April 2.—Julius Rosenwald, multi-millionaire mail order house head, will pay the largest income tax of any man in Chicago, it was learned today. His tax return shows a net income of $1,320,000 for a year.

When you say you take the situation philosophically it means you got whipped.

SOPHOMORES GRAB FIRST TRACK MEET

Kromroy Leads in Individual Work but Other Juniors Unable to Come Up to the Work

The advanced sophomores captured first place in the indoor track meet at the high school last evening, having a total of twenty-nine and one-fourth points. The juniors were second with a total of seventeen and one-fourth. The advanced seniors were third with a total of nine points.

"Chief" Kromroy made the most points of any man in the meet. He made two clean firsts and tied for first with Taylor in the shot put. Taylor and Kromroy divided first and second places, each man getting four points. This made Kromroy's total fourteen points. He was on the junior team. The only other men who scored for that team were Worth and Volters.

Walter Reget made next most points, making one first, two seconds and a fourth, totaling twelve points.

The records of the events follows: Shot put—Taylor and Kromroy, first; 40 feet 4 inches (Taylor made 40 feet 8 inches but it was a foul); Harris, third, and Walter Reget, fourth.

Pole vault—Russel Weeks, first; height, 8 feet 11 inches; Harris, second; Werner, third, and Darling, fourth.

Potato race—Walter Reget, first; time, 35 seconds; Kulcinsky, second; Pope, third, and Kinnear fourth.

Twenty-five yard dash—Kromroy, first; time, 2 1/2 seconds; Walter Reget, second; Hodard Reget, third, and Kulcinsky, fourth.

Standing broad jump—Kromroy, first; distance, 9 feet 9 inches; Kulcinsky, second; Stupka, third, and Worth, fourth.

Running high jump—Adair, first; height, 5 feet 5 inches; W. Reget, second; Volters, third; Blatter, Worth, Pope and Stupka were tied for fourth.

Mr. Horne was very much pleased with the meet as excellent work was done for indoor efforts. He hopes to produce a strong track team from the material which showed up. Adair especially will be able to show off much better outside as he stopped at 5.5 and could have gone better.

The men will practice on the field after vacation.

EHLER AT ST. LOUIS.

MADISON, Wis., April 2.—Director of Athletics George W. Ehler represents the University of Wisconsin at the annual convention of the American Physical Education association at St. Louis, Mo., this week, and presented a paper yesterday on "The Relation of Athletics to Morals."

ZBYSKO WINS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 2.—Zbyszko, aspirant for Frank Gotch's mat title, was the undisputed victor over Andrew Surillo, local champion, today. The big Pole won two successive falls in their match last night.
